7. (1) Overtime for all employees, other than those employed on a casual basis, shall be paid for time worked in excess of forty-eight hours in any week, at one and half times the normal hourly rate.

(2) The normal hourly rate shall be not less than one two hundred and thirty fourth \( \frac{1}{234} \) of the employee’s basic minimum wage.
Annual leave.

8. (1) After twelve months continuous service with an employer, an employee shall be entitled to twelve working days paid leave which period shall exclude any public holidays specified in the Fourth Schedule which occur during that leave:

Provided that:-

(a) after two years of continuous service with an employer an employee shall be entitled to eighteen working days annual leave with full pay; and
(b) after three years of continuous service with an employer an employee shall be entitled to twenty-one working days annual leave with full pay.

(2) An employee who goes on annual leave, in addition to the payment for that leave shall be paid an amount in cash equivalent in value to the rations he would have received during the period of his annual leave had he remained on the employer’s premises.

Sick leave.

9. (1) After three months’ continuous service with an employer an employee shall be entitled to sick leave up to a maximum of fourteen days with full pay, and thereafter to sick leave up to a maximum of fourteen days with half pay, in each period of twelve months’ of continuous service, subject to the employee producing a certificate of incapacity covering the period claimed as sick leave, signed by a medical practitioner registered under the medical and Dental Practitioners Act, 1970: Provided that an employer may, accept such other evidence as he deems appropriate.

(2) An employee may, on production of evidence that she is about to give birth to a child, take the sick leave provided for in this section as part of her maternity leave.

Public holidays.

10. (1) The public holidays specified in the Fourth Schedule shall be holidays with full pay.

(2) Where an employee is required to work on a day which is a paid public holiday, he shall be given seven days’ notice of such requirement, thereafter by a mutual agreement, he shall either be given a working day off with full pay within thirty days of such public holiday or be paid in respect of the hours worked on that public holiday at one and half times his basic wage.

(3) In the absence of the mutual agreement referred to in sub-paragraph (2), the employer shall in his discretion decide whether the employee shall receive payment for the public holiday or whether he should be given a day off work in lieu thereof.

(4) Notwithstanding any provision of this section, no employee shall be compelled to take more than half the paid public holidays in any calendar year in the form of days off work in lieu of such public holidays.

Weekly rest days.

11. (1) An employee shall be entitled to either one rest day with full pay in every period of seven days, provided that with the agreement of his employer, he may accumulate two such rest days in any period of days.

(2) Where an employee works on a rest day in order to accumulate two rest days as provided in sub-section (1), he shall not be entitled to overtime payment for that day except for such time worked thereon as exceeds nine working hours.
Casual work.

12. A person employed on a casual basis shall be paid for each hour worked not less than one two hundredth of the basic minimum wage as specified in the First Schedule.

Travel arrangements.

13. Where an employer does not provide accommodation for an employee and such employee is required to start work on or before 7.00 a.m. or to remain on duty after 5.30 p.m. the employer shall either:

(a) provide free transport between the place of work and such other place not exceeding sixteen kilometres and accessible by road, as may be agreed by the employer and employee concerned; or

(b) pay to the employee in addition to wages, an amount equal to the cost of public transport between the place of work and such other place as may be agreed by the employer and employee.
